

Mark Bowen (bio). Mark Bowen, a scientist, mountain climber and photographer, and paleoclimatologist Lonnie Thompson, a Senior Research Scientist for the Byrd Polar Research Center at Ohio State University, are interviewed about shrinking mountain glaciers and global warming. Bowen is the author of Thin Ice: Unlocking the Secrets of Climate in the World's Highest Mountains about Thompson's research using ice cores to understand global warming. Listen RealAudio (Audio Help). Listen Windows Media (Audio Help). Show Credits: Interviewed by Ira Flatow of NPR's Science Friday. More about Mark Bowen >>